Chautauqua in Chagrin series to highlight “Healing and Healthy Aging”

August 13, 2007 – Chagrin Falls, Ohio – The final event in the 2007 Chautauqua in Chagrin series, which is bringing speakers and musicians from the renowned Chautauqua Institution to Chagrin Falls for evenings of lectures, dialogues and performances, will be held on Tuesday, August 21, beginning at 6:00 p.m. in venues throughout the village. Presented by the Chagrin Foundation for Arts & Culture in partnership with the Chautauqua Institution, the event is titled Healing and Healthy Aging. Geriatric specialists and a religious leader will explore the baby boomer generation’s expectations for quality of life, freedom from pain, and ability to contribute to society as they head into retirement; musicians from the Institution will also perform.

The complete schedule for Healing and Healthy Aging is as follows:

6:00pm/United Methodist Church of Chagrin Falls, 20 South Franklin Street

Dialogue: “Aging: Gift and Challenge”

Dr. James W. Campbell, Director of Geriatrics, MetroHealth Medical Center, Cleveland

Dr. David A. Lipschitz, Chair, Donald W. Reynolds Department of Geriatrics, University of Arkansas; Director, Reynolds Institute on Aging

Dr. William Thomas, author, What Are Old People For?, President of The Center for Growing and Becoming, Inc., and founder of The Eden Alternative

7:00pm/Federated Church, 76 Bell Street

Organ Concert: Jared Jacobsen, Chautauqua Organist

Program includes music by J.S. Bach, George Frederick Handel, Joseph Bonnet, Joseph Clokey and Percy Edward Fletcher

7:00pm/Riverside Park, North Main Street across from Township Hall

Musical Performance: Thursday Morning Brass from the Chautauqua Institution (free)

Paul Weber, Director

(rain location: Chagrin Valley Little Theatre)

8:00pm/Federated Church, 76 Bell Street

Lecture: Rev. Otis Moss III, “The Challenge of the Church in the 21st Century”

Pastor, Trinity United Church of Christ Church, Chicago

“Gate Passes,” which entitle the holders to all of the evening’s offerings for $10, can be purchased in advance at the Chagrin Valley Little Theatre (40 River Street/ 440-247-8955) during box office hours or through Downtown Chagrin Falls (440-247-1895).
